2,000 Cram Prospect Park For Lawn Festival

By EILEEN DEWHURST

An estimated 2,000 persons crammed Prospect park last night for the biggest attendance record ever hung up by the park association's annual lawn fete

Food ran out several times and serving tables had to be replenished.

P. G. Renie, association president, this morning said he was unable yet to estimate income from the event but he called it a "financial success" and said he felt sure the goal of enlarging the kitchen in the park pavilion and installing a ladies' room would be achieved.

Eight hundred strips of tickets at 25 cents each all were sold before the lawn fete and tickets left over from 1942 were brought out for use last night. In addition to these tickets, many who attended the outing used cash to make their purchases of sandwiches, home-made cakes, coffee, soft drinks, pop corn, candy and ice cream.

Youngsters waited in line to ride ponies and fish in the fish pond, while adults gathered to listen to music provided by the Senior high school band, under the direction of J. Merton Holcombe or played games and chatted with neighbors at tables on the tennis courts.

One of the highlights of the evening was a "card table tumbling act" by Mel Marcus, internationally known acrobat.

Renie, in charge of arrangements for the lawn fete, was assisted by approximately 50 members of the association who worked all evening at the food stands and other concessions.

Evans Leads Leskosky In 'Am'

One Hole Ahead In 1st Nine

Youth Comes From Behind

BULLETIN

Dick Evans, Cleveland youngster, was three holes ahead of Youngstown's Vince Leskosky at the end of 18 holes this morning in the Ohio Amateur golf tournament at Westbrook Country club.

A surprising young collegian from Cleveland today went one hole ahead of his public links opponent at the end of nine holes in the finals of the 43rd Ohio Amateur golf tournament at the Westbrook Country club.

Dick Evans, the upcoming sophomore from the University of Michigan, fired an even par over the nine-hole route to take the lead on favored Vince Leskosky of Youngstown. The 18-year-old Evans has been the surprise of the entire tournament which opened Monday with 183 contestants.

In his last three matches, Evans eliminated Harold Paddock, defending champion, and two Mansfield stars — Pete Thoma and Al Hager. This is Evans' first important tournament, although he was runner-up for the Cleveland junior championship in 1948.

EVANS, LESKOSKY SPLIT

Leskosky, last of 13 public links entrants, split the first five holes with Evans. However, Evans fired a birdie two on the sixth to go one ahead and then birdied the seventh while Leskosky slipped one over par.

Leskosky came in with a one-under-par four on the eighth hole to cut Evans' lead to 1 up. Both competitors shot one-over-par four's on the ninth hole.

Another nine hole round was on tap for this morning with the final 18 holes scheduled to begin at 1 p. m. today.

Mounds Club Ordered To Close Doors

PAINESVILLE — (INS) — Lake county's exclusive night spot, the Mounds club, today was ordered closed for alleged violations of state building codes and fire prevention standards.

An 11-man "raiding" party which included several state department heads, swooped down on the club for a three and a half hour inspection which resulted in the closing orders.

Albert Woldman, state industrial relations director, ordered the club closed for alleged violations of the Ohio building code. State Fire Marshall Harry Callan also issued orders to have the place closed for what he called "fire law violations."

The state liquor department announced that the raid was led by liquor enforcement chief Anthony A. Rutkowski, supported by five inspectors. It was the second raid in a week.

15 Dead In Explosion

PRUEM, Germany — (AP) — A French explosives depot blew up last night killing 5 Germans, injuring scores more and destroying hundreds of homes in this West German town.

German police said the death toll may go still higher.

Cause of the explosion was not determined, but no sabotage is suspected. Polic said a short circuit in an electric line might be responsible.

The depot was a former air raid shelter built into the side of a hill.

Pruem was in the center of the Battle of the Bulge when the Germans launched their final counterattack against the allies just before Christmas, 1944.

'Hall of Religion' Opened To Public

FORT KNOX, Ky. —(UP)— The Hall of Religion, the only one in the army showing "spiritual weapons" the chaplains used in the recent war, was opened to the public today.

The chapel was dedicated Friday afternoon by Maj. Gen. Luther D. Miller, chief of army chaplains.

Too Eager To See His Dad

An eager greeting to "daddy" was on the lips of 3-year-old David P. Stake yesterday afternoon when he saw his father, Raymond R. Stake, leaving a city bus on Harter avenue.

A second later the happy greeting was drowned out by the squeal of automobile brakes, and the voices of onlookers. Young David, too intent on reaching his father's side, had stepped off the curb into the side of a passing autobile driven by Robert M. Fenton, 46, of 174 Chilton avenue.

Before his horror-stricken mother, who was watching from the porch of the Stake home at 606 Harter avenue, could make a move, the tiny boy had moved forward and then been knocked backwards by the car.

The second's delay while the lad stood on the curb watching his father may have saved his life by preventing him from moving directly into the automobile's path. He is being x-rayed today at General hospital to determine the extent of his injuries.

The child suffered a possible brain concussion and cuts and bruises on both arms, but his condition was listed as "good" at the hospital today.

Fenton, in a report on the accident, told police he had stopped at Harter avenue and Raleigh street to allow the city bus to make a right turn from Raleigh street onto Harter avenue. He said he had started up slowly when the boy stepped from the curb, about six feet from the intersection.

The boy will be kept at General hospital until tomorrow unless complications develop, his physician reported.

Hint New Atom 'Deal'

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Opinion on capitol hill veered today toward a belief that President Truman's top-level security conference will lead to a new atomic agreement with Great Britain and Canada.

This view was supported by reports which seeped through the tight wall of secrecy flung around the President's Blair house parley with his highest security advisors.

Most observers think the President is taking steps to wipe out the bitterness which arose over exclusion of this country's wartime bomb-making partners from the secrets of its postwar atomic program.

They recalled that on May 26 Atomic Energy commission Chairman David E. Lilienthal named this issue as one of AEC's major problems. He testified:

"It was found to be causing bitterness among allies and friends."

Lilienthal disclosed that the matter has been discussed secretly with the congressional atomic committee "on a number of occasions."

Loses Freedom Bid

ALEXANDRIA, Va. — (UP) — Former Maj. Gen. Bennett E Meyers, wartime air force procurement officer, has lost out on his latest bid for freedom. A federal court here has denied Meyers' petition for a writ of habeas corpus.

STEEL WORKERS REJOICE—Workers at the Carnegie-Illinois steel plant at Gary, Ind., rejoice as they learn that a nation-wide steel strike has been averted by acceptance of President Truman's 60-day "cooling-off" plan by the U. S. Steel Corporation, 10 hours before the walkout was to start.

Consider Wage Question

Fact-Finding Board Gets Steel Dispute

WASHINGTON — (AP) — A presidential fact-finding board in the steel labor dispute took over one of the nation's biggest economic questions today—should there be a "fourth round" of postwar wage increases?

The three-man board was appointed last night by President Truman to end a tense 72 hours speculation over whether the steel industry, or a big part of it, would be shut down indefinitely today.

The board's recommendations on wages, pensions and insurance issues in the steel dispute won't be binding on either the industry or Philip Murray's CIO-Steelworkers. But the White House hopes it will point the way to a settlement.

And how the Steelworkers fare on their fourth round demands may well become a pattern for all industry. It has happened that way before.

A million Steelworkers called off plans for a walkout to begin last midnight when the industry's giants, including U. S. Steel, reluctantly gave in to the administration's 60-day strike truce plan.

Mr. Truman appointed Carroll R. Daugherty, Northwestern university professor of business economics, as chairman of the impartial panel. Serving with him will be Judge Samuel I. Rosenman, former White House adviser, and David L. Cole, Paterson, N J., labor relations expert who has served on other Truman labor fact-finding boards.

The President, relieved by acceptance of his peace plan by big and little steel firms, won something in his exchange with the industrial giants. He was able to by-pass the Taft-Hartley act in dealing with a major labor crisis. Friends of the labor statute were not too happy about that, but unions took comfort because of their recent set-backs in attempts to repeal the act.

The three-man board has until August 30 to make its settlement recommendations to the White House. The truce is to continue to Sept. 14.

Taft Raps President

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Sen Robert A. Taft (R) O., last night accused President Truman of leading the U. S. toward "a totalitarian state" and called for reduced federal spending to overcome the present business recession.

Taft, congressional Republican policy leader, made his charges in a Columbus radio address designed to answer the chief executive's report Wednesday night on the state of the nation's economy.

The Ohio senator assailed the philosophy of deficit spending, declaring:

"Huge government spending has from the beginning been one of the essential features of Mr. Truman's program to follow the labor socialized government of England into a totalitarian state, directing the lives and activities of its citizens.

"President Truman has demanded the right to fix prices, to fix wages, to ration commodities. He insisted that the government go into private business whenever its left-wing economists thought that private industry was not expanding at a sufficiently rapid rate."

Taft asserted the way out of the present recession is "a solvent, efficient government, spending economically for those projects which the people can afford and which they approve."

Rail Union Chief Dies

Death Claims A. F. Whitney

CLEVELAND — (INS) — A. F. Whitney, the railway union chief whose bitter feud and subsequent reconciliation with President Truman made national headlines in 1946 and '47, died early today.

A. F. Whitney

The 76-year-old president of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen succumbed to a heart attack at his Cleveland home.

The veteran leader of 216,000 trainmen was the subject of a scathing attack by the President in 1946, when the chief executive used war-time emergency powers to end a national rail strike. Whitney, termed "unpatriotic" by the President, replied that he was "double-crossed."

But equally sensational was the way in which the President and Whitney forgot their quarrel the following year, when the railway union head announced he would back Mr. Truman for re-election.

Relativevs said that Whitney's wife and a maid were at his bedside when he died. They said the labor official awoke and called them to his side before his death.

Whitney had worked at his office all day yesterday and had entertained guests at his home last night.

Whitney was born in Cedar Falls, Ia., April 12, 1873, the son of the Rev. Joseph Leonard Whitney, a Methodist minister and Martha Wallin Whitney. He was christened Alexander Fell Whitney.

Ohio Legislature Ends Hectic Session

Exploding Cigars, Horse Play Mark End of Work

(Editor's note: Despite the horse play, the legislature DID transact some business last night, details of which will be found on page 5.)

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Ohio's billion-dollar legislature folded its tent in a carnival atmosphere early today.

There was pop, hamburgers, an exploding cigar, and lots of horseplay among the state's lawmakers.

A hamburger stand was set up in an ante room by the Ohio State Restaurant association.

From 8 p. m. until well past midnight hot hamburgers were served —free—to all who came: legislators, lobbyists, newspapermen and visitors.

Trays of the food even were carried upon the House floor to legislators too busy to leave their seats. They washed it down with hot coffee and soda pop, dispensed free by the soft drink industry.

Said Robert R. Williams, executive vice president of the Restaurant association:

"I thought the fellows would like it. We don't have any restaurant bills pending and the session is ending—so we can't be accused of lobbying."

★

Around mid-night the House was shaken by what first appeared to be a shotgun blast. Someone had given a loaded cigar to Henry Stoner of Barberton, supervisor of the House bill room.

While scores of people milled about the House corridor, eating, laughing and discussing the dying session, a chalked memo on a committee bulletin--board read:

"Keep cool. Don't be a —— fool."

As the session went past midnight, the Senate and House clocks were covered, to preserve the illusion that the legislature still was operating on July 15, when it was obliged to adjourn.

Rep. Thomas P. Reid (R-Preble) waggishly conformed by covering the face of his wristwatch with paper.

★

Senator William H. Deddens, the Senate wit, took a last dig at a Democratic opponent. The Cincinnati Republican presented a toy hen, which cackled, to Senator Catherine R. Dobbs of Barberton. Senator Dodds had tried to put through a bill requiring the licensing of commercial poultry dressers. Deddens, earlier in the session, helped wring the bill's neck.

★

When Senator Mahoney proclaimed the end of the session, at 12:06 a. m., there was applause and banging on desks The senators, however, were slow to leave.

Then grizzled Dwight L. Matchette, who plays the role of father to the whole Senate body, rasped:

"Ok; you can go home now."

Police Probing Odd Case

Family Tells Of 'Drink'

Police today are investigating the possibility that Albert Pickette, 49, met death yesterday at the hands of a poisoner.

Pickette, who lived at the rear of 161 West Sixth street, told his physician shortly before his death that someone had given him a drink "that tasted funny."

He was treated by the physician yesterday morning for "diarrhea and vomiting blood according to the police report. Several hours later the physician received a second call from the home, and found the man had died.

Richland County Coroner D. C. Lavender performed an autopsy late yesterday, but no report will be available before about two weeks, the coroner said.

Contents of the man's stomach will be analyzed, police said.

The man's family said he had not been ill before taking the drink, presumably wine or whisky, Dr. Albert Selfman said. He said it was the first time he had treated the man.

The physician made the first call at the home at 9 a. m., shortly after the man had taken the drink, police reported. The second call was made shortly after 12 noon and the coroner was immediately notified.

Police reports indicate no arrest has been made in connection with the death. Identity of the person who gave the man the drink was not revealed.

Meanwhile funeral arrangements are being completed at the Geiger funeral home.

The man's wife, who was visiting her mother in Ridgley, Tenn., is en route to Mansfield.

Other relatives include a stepson, John Lee Jones, of 319 Grace street.

Crazed Man Rules Ward

TAFT, Okla. — (UP) — An insane patient who barricaded himself in a hospital ward and used a pistol to repulse a tear gas attack by sheriff's deputies changed his mind today and decided not to surrender.

The patient, 51-year-old Rosenfelt James, had said earlier today he was "ready to talk" with E. P. Henry, superintendent of the Oklahoma Hospital for Negroes, later in the morning.

About 70 other patients who fled from the ward to other parts of the hospital yesterday and two attendants have returned to the ward with James, Henry said.

James keeps the attendants 15 or 20 feet from him with his automatic pistol, but permits other patients to come near him, Henry said.

A patient whom the deranged man fired at but missed yesterday has not been returned to the ward, the superintendent said. The patient was not hit.

Henry said James roams about the ward, but attendants can not get close enough to him to capture him. Henry himself has not gone into the ward, he said.

Kick Luciano Out of Rome

ROME — (UP) — Charles (Lucky) Luciano was given four days today to go back to his native Sicily and stay there.

After a week of questioning police cleared him of suspicion of being mixed up in an international dope ring. They freed him and told him to get out of Rome and stay out.

The former New York vice overlord agreed to return to Sicily, but said he would be back in Rome sooner or later.

"Luciano has been cleared," Rosario Barranco, chief of the Rome mobile squad, said.

Ashland Assured Of Muny Court

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Eleven cities are authorized to establish municipal courts under legislation awaiting Gov. Frank J. Lausche's signature today.

They are Ashland, Delaware, Greenville, Lancaster, Mount Vernon, Washington Court House, Sidney, Coshocton, Euclid, Garfield Heights and Bellevue. The legislature completed enactment of the authorizing bill yesterday when the Senate and House agreed on the report of a conference committee appointed to iron out differences.

Walter Lippmann

Taft Errs In Pact Interpretation

Senator Taft's decision to vote against the pact rests on his belief that it is "inextricably" involved with an American obligation to supply arms. That the pact and the arms bill are connected no one denies. But whether they are "inextricably" involved the one with the other is a question which has not yet been answered clearly and satisfactorily.

The answer depends on whether the pact is construed strictly from the words of the text or, historically, as it was negotiated with the other nations and as they actually understand it.

Senator Taft believes that as it was negotiated the pact has become so scrambled with the military aid bill that each and every one of the other signatories now believes it has acquired a treaty right to receive arms and that we have a treaty obligation to supply arms to each and every one of them.

Taft would vote for the pact, though with some misgivings, if it carried with it no obligation by treaty to supply arms for at least ten years. He would also vote to supply arms if the case could be considered on its military and political merits.

But he objects to the idea that a nation acquires a treaty right to American arms because it adheres to the pact.

Has Senator Taft construed the pact correctly? Secretary os State Acheson says that "there is an obligation to help, but the extent, the manner, and the timing is up to the honest judgment of the parties," that is to say the honest judgment of the signatory governments.

Senator Vandenberg told the Senate that "the timing and the nature and the extent of implementing legislation, in this or any other year, are, in my opinion, wide open to the free decision of all senators as to what they believe the objectives of the pact and the national security require."

Acheson's version holds that the decision must be the honest judgment, not only of the United States but of "the parties". That means that the decision must be negotiated. Now there could be no obligation to negotiate if somewhere or other all the other nations had not acquired some treaty rights to receive arms and the United States some treaty obligation to supply them.

Of the two interpretations Senator Vandenberg's is, of course, the one which would meet Senator Taft's objections. But Secretary Acheson's 's the one which expresses correctly the understanding which developed when the pact was negotiated.

This need not have happened. It should not have happened. But it did happen. In January the State department went publicly on record with a statement which was addressed to the Scandinavian countries and had a decisive effect on their policies, saying that the United States would supply arms only to "countries associated with us in collective defense arrangements". After that Norway and Denmark adhered to the pact.

Are they not entitled now to believe that they have acquired a right to receive arms? If Norway and Denmark, then what about all the others? Could it now be said that Congress is wholly free to decide for itself what their treaty rights are?

That is how the pact and the arms bill became scrambled. The question then is whether this diplomatic blunder is irreparable. I do not think it is, and that the pact can be ratified without reservation and an arms bill passed which will in entire good faith correct the impression that there is a treaty right to receive American arms.

The way out of that quagmire is to re-establish at once the original principle, which has become obscured, that our obligation is to the Atlantic Nationa collectively, not toeach nation separately. Then the arms we supply will be to reenforce a European strategical system and not a series of separate national and imperial military establishments.

What we must take care to prevent at the outset is the creation for the next ten or tweny years of some eleven separate pressure pumps operated by each general staff abroad upon the administration and the Congress here.

Says Negroes Lead Southern Changes

Hodding Carter has done a first-rate job in giving part of the other side of the picture of what is going on down South in "New Rebel Yell in Dixie" in a recent issue of Colliers.

Even though one is somewhat amazed at the inclusion of Senators John C. Stennis of Mississippi and Lister Hill of Alabama as southern "liberals" and his naming of some others who might more accurately be characterized as ex-liberals among those who are working against bigotry in the South, Carter has written a story which gives reason for optimism about what will happen below the Mason and Dixon line within the next few years.

The story does not have the tragic drama of a Ku Klux Klan flogging. But so far as ultimate results are concerned, his story is of far greater and deeper significance.

Two men engaged in free conversation is rarely news. The same two men slugging each other makes headlines.

Thus the magnificent work of a Frank Graham at the University of North Carolina or the quiet work with church women of a Mrs. M. E. Tilly of Atlanta seldom show up in news or editorial columns, while a lynching always does.

But Carter's article, valuable though it is, has serious shortcomings which keep it from being as true a picture of southern progress as it might have been. He records with justifiable pride the growth of public sentiment against educational inequalities, disfranchisement, mob violence and racial discrimination in employment.

Any reader of Carter's article who is not familiar with the South would gather that all these things had come about wholly and solely because Carter and a few other white southerners had experienced, like Saul of Tarsus, a complete transformation of heart cn th erace problem.

It is gratifying to see the growth among southern editors, church people, students and veterans of a more enlightened attitude. But this did not come about through expanded liberalism alone. The differential in expenditures for education of white and Negro southerners has been reduced primarily by court actions up to and including the United States Supreme court which were initiated, financed and fought almost entirely by Negroes themselves.

Carter's unwillingness or inability to see and recognize cause as well as effect of the changes he enumerates is paralleled in the drawing by Robert J. Lee which illustrates the article.

A minister, an editor and a college graduate followed by a working man all white—stride resolutely forward, while pygmy figures of Ku Kluxers, denizens of Tobacco Road and mint-julep-drinking "colonels" scamper with unaccustomed celerity into the waters of the Gulf of Mexico. It is unfortunate that Carter could not tell the whole story instead of that part, which, though important, deals solely with the growth of liberal opinion among white southerners.

There is a second regrettable omission in Carter's article. The hardest blows against racial proscription in the South have been struck by a number of federal judges. Most courageous of these and one whose decisions have been most far-reaching in wiping out the white primary is the South Carolina-born Judge J. Waties Waring of the U. S. District court for the eastern district of South Carolina.

"Good Idea, Badly Carried Out"

Germans Still Cling To Nazi Feeling

By BRACK CURRY

FRANKFURT, Germany — (P) — A majority of U. S. zone Germans believe that Hitler's national socialism was a good idea badly carried out, says American military government.

Ad more than half of them appear doubtful of their ability to carry on democratic self-government.

These are among the findings of the latest survey of public opinion in the American occupation zone. The surveys have been made periodically since 1945 by military government's information services division.

In a report on the latest survey, military government says:

"Clearly established is majority approval of the main lines of western policy toward Germany: currency reform, the Berlin airlift and the west German government.

"But little change can be noted regarding the re-orientation of the German people toward more democratic views, at least as tapped here. German disinterest in politics and unreadiness to assume responsibility remain vast."

In the survey, Germans were asked:

"Do you believe that the Germans today could actually govern themselves democratically?"

Forty per cent replied "no." About 14 per cent had no opinion and the remainder said "yes."

As to interest in politics, the survey found that roughly six in ten U. S. zone Germans would leave politics to others.

What kind of government do most Germans want? The survey says that:

"Consistently, six in ten Germans have said they would choose a government offering economic security over one guaranteeing civil liberties — if they were forced to make such a choice.

About six in ten U. S. zone Germans, however, have asserted that they would not yield specified civil liberties to gain economic security the survey says, adding:

"Four in ten would do so. But it is important to note that the two rights that would be most frequently given up are (1) the franchise and (2) press freedom, both of which are basic to democratic government."

On the basic worth of national socialism (nazism), the survey notes that "the trend continues to be increasingly affirmative."

The survey first asked Germans in 1946: "was national socialism a bad idea or a good idea badly carried out?" In that year 40 per cent said Hitler's program was a good idea badly carried out.

In 1947 those approving Hitlerism jumped to 52 per cent, in 1948 to 55.5 per cent and remained about the same in the latest poll.

The Germans also were asked, "if you had to choose between communism and national socialism under which government would you prefer to live?"

On this hypothetical choice, opinions since late 1946 have been turning from "neither" to national socialism.

In November 1946, 17 per cent selected national socialism. In the latest survey, 43 per cent claimed preference for it against two per cent for communism. During the same period, the "neither" vote declined from 66 to 52 per cent.

Both of western Germany's two big political parties have lost some support in the U. S. zone since 1945, the survey says. These are the leftist Social Democrats (SPD) and the rightwing Christian Democrats (CDU).

Strike Hits N. Y. Buses

Workers Told To 'Dig In'

NEW YORK — UP) — A strike yesterday halted buses which carry 1,200,000 riders daily and union leader Michael Quill hinted that he might extend it to other lines.

Quill, president of the Transport WorkersCIO), toured picket lines in front of seven garages of the New York City Omnibus corporation, and its subsidiary, the Fifth Avenue Coach company, whose 32 lines in Manhattan and Queens were paralyzed.

Quill told the strikers to "dig in for a long strike." When asked if he planned to extend the strike, he said, "The lid's off. The sky's the limit. Anything can happen when the lid's off."

Theodore Kheel, recently appointed impartial arbitrator for the city transit industry, and Joseph E. O'Grady, city labor relations director, tried vainly to end the dispute over the firing of four mechanics. The union widened it to include wage and hour demands. Kheel said he would "keep in touch" with both sides.

Grady, the Cow, Back In News; Spurns High Tone's Proposal

YUKON, OKLA. — INS) — Grady, the herford bovine who stirred the hearts of the nation when she became trapped in an Oklahoma silo, won't stir her own emotions.

She's remaining placidly aloof, chewing a neat bit of cud and completely ignoring a very noble coule-be husband, high tone 32nd.

Grady first jumped into national prominence when she squeezed through a 17 by 25½ inch feed door into Bill Mach's silo near Yukon.

She lumbered out of the limelight last February when Mach finally rescued her from a wealth of fodder. Now she's moved back in because she won't pitch a little woo with a would-be father.

Mach said he liked Grady, and wanted to do something fine for her. And what could be better than to let her make with the cow-eyes at High Tone?

After all, High Tone comes from a long line — count 'em — of noble bulls. So noble is the blooded steak on the hoof that he's price-tagged at $17,500.

Grady, however, just gave Mach a baleful stare when he suggested the dainty hereford accept High Tone's gallant proposal. Grady, it seems, is bashful.

Mach said he can't understand it. Grady, he said, is not a newcomer to motherhood. "She's got three fine offspring running about our farm, and now doggone it . . . Grady just sniffs at the whole idea."

Says Vets Get 40% of Jobs Listed

Handley Urges More Be Hired

Mansfield veterans are getting their share of jobs offered by the Ohio State Employment service, C. W. Handley, manager of the local office said today. However, Handley urged employers to take on veterans wherever possible.

The enrollment of veterans in the active files of the service totals about 30 per cent of those listed. Handley said that veterans are on a preferred. list and get about 40 per cent of the jobs available.

The servicemen's Readjustment act unemployment insurance program will expire July 25 unless it is renewed by congress, Handley said. The training features of the "G. I. Bill" will continue however.

Handley said that if the law is permitted to expire veterans may apply for state compensation for a maximum of 22 weeks. The weekly compensation is $21.

Harvey W. Burghard, chairman of the employment committee for the Veterans of Foreign Wars, said that employers who wish to hire veterans may contact the Veterans Employment representative at 4154-6, where many applications of veterans are on file. The committee will assist employer in securing the right veteran for the job opening at no cost to the employer or the veteran, Burghard said.

The representative to be contacted is Patrick Plunkett in the Ohio State Employment office at 56 North Diamond street.

'Overthrow' Aims Denied

CLEVELAND — UP) — Dave Balint, former northern Ohio labor leader and left wing sympathizer, told a deportation hearing court yesterday that he had never advocated or believed in the overthrow of the United States government by force.

Balint, an alien, came here in 1920 on a passport from Czechoslovakia. He admitted belonging to the communist party from 1933 to 1938.

The Cleveland man is charged with membership in an organization which teaches and advocates overthrow of the government by force and violence.

Balint, who is employed at the Apex Smelting company here, said that if he were deported there would be no one to provide for his American-born wife and two children.

George Hewitt, 43-year-old former New York communist, was in critical condition after he collapsed Thursday at the hearing.

Hewitt collapsed from a stroke after testifying for two hours on the aims and purposes of the communist party.

PAGE FOUR MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, JULY 16, 1949

Drive carefully tonight and tomorrow—all week ends are dangerous for reckless motorists.

A Mansfielder vacationing in the east regrets being unable to get enough 55-cent haircuts to last him through the year.

The English language is made increasingly difficult for foreigners by such statements as: "The fruit crop is a washout on account of the drouth."

But After 60 Days, What?

A 60-DAY TRUCE, not a settlement of differences, has effected continuance of steel production at least until mid-September, with the future—from that point—dependent on the outcome of "fact-finding" to be made by a board already named by President Truman, who has chosen this method in preference to procedure under the Taft-Hartley law, which has a provision designed to meet just such an emergency.

The big issue to be determined in the controversy between workers and management in the steel industry is whether or not the inflationary spiral is to continue, with repetition of wage increases to keep pace with excessive housing and living costs.

If wages in the steel industry continue an upward climb, and demanded company-financed pensions create an added obligation, the pace will be set for similar demands upon other industries, with the result that the nation's economy must be keyed to further lessening of dollar value all along the line.

There has been reluctant consent on the part of major steel companies to follow the President's proposal to submit issues to a fact-finding board, and it is made clear that the companies do not feel bound, in advance, to acceptance of recommendations that may be made.

There is, however, evidence of earnest desire on the part of large and small steel companies to avert the calamity of a shut-down in that basic industry.

Recognizing the great harm that a strike by a million steel workers would do to millions of other persons employed in associated lines of work, it may well be hoped that intelligent labor leadership and co-operative management spirit will find a harmonious way to adjust their differences within the next two months—and that the fact-finding board will actually find "facts."

It Can Be Done, of Course

BIGGER CITIES appear to be giving more attention to clamping down on commercialized gambling than is being done in Mansfield, the local administration policy seeming to be that sanctioned places are to be left undisturbed.

In Columbus, for instance, report that a bookie was being operated in connection with a poolroom resulted in a raid which was led personally the city's safety director. Betting slips and other gambling paraphernalia were seized and the proprietor of the place arrested.

Such procedure may seem odd to Mansfielders where a horse race bookie is operated openly, with full knowledge of the police, and nothing is done about it.

Joan Will Go To Washington

FORTUNATELY there is to be a happy ending to the story of Joan Rankin, the 16-year-old Cincinnati Negro girl who recently served as governor of Ohio Girls' State, but who was to be deprived of a trip to the nation's capital because of her color.

First thought was that Joan should not be submitted to the humiliation of racial discrimination practiced in Washington, which thus sets a poor example to the entire country.

Now, however, it is to be assured that Joan will be accorded the same privileges as other girls in the party—which is as it should be—for she has shown by excellent qualities and acceptance among her associates at Ohio Girls' State, that she is fully deserving of "equality" in treatment as well as in opportunity.

It is also gratifying to note that a Mansfield girl, Mary Jo Hunter, is to have opportunity to visit Washington on the occasion of the Girls' Nation assembly, under sponsorship of the American Legion Auxiliary, and her comment on the subject is an illuminating expression of real Americanism. "I am so glad Joan gets to go," she said, "She's a swell girl. I ran against her right up to the top office in the Girls' State and she was fine all the way through. She certainly was a good sport in winning."

Seeking Security Without Effort

THE WORD on everyone's lips, nowadays, it seems, is security. It is a thing sought by thhe worker, the aged, governments and nations. Everyone is seeking this boon or urging someone else to supply him with it.

Seeking security from someone else is the wrong approach, according to a nationally known insurance consultant. He claims we should endeavor to solve our own problems, after which our security will take shape: it comes from within ourselves, and cannot be conferred upon us by a union, by a government or by any other organization.

This may never be a popular theory. Some believe it is easier to rely on outside resources for security than it is to think out and work out our own solutions to the pressing problems of existence. But lack of popularity does not affect ultimate truth, as the disciples of a super-imposed security are bound to discover in the end

It's no longer a dog's world. A lost pooch can hardly get any attention these days what with the excitement over missing uranium.

What Some Other People Are Saying

SIR STAFFORD CRIPPS, British chancellor of the exchequer: "Democracy, economic independence and full employment form a magnificent program for the free peoples of the world. We are now challenged by events as to whether we can maintain all these three objectives. We must spare no effort to see that we establish these three as the great safeguard for the liberty of the peoples of the world."

Raymond Moley's Analysis

Incompetence Explains British Trouble

SIR STAFFORD CRIPPS' description of England's economic plight is a piece of bitter irony. He has discovered what his Labor party should have known when they won the election five years ago—that mere work by government-protected workers will not sustain a trading nation in a buyer's market.

Since the Labor Party was strong on economic theory but weak in business experience, it was not prepared for a rapidly reviving world.

Cripps points out that England's reserves, which might roughly be called working capital, are declining because England cannot sell enough stuff to the dollar countries. And he admits the simple fact that the trouble is not altogether in the wicked tariffs in these countries, but in the high price of the product.

The English are almost fully employed. Their production is at the highest level in their history. But there is sales resistance. This will be well understood in the United States, where people quite accustomed to high prices, gaze admiringly at fine British products priced beyond reach of anyone except those with the money to afford novelties.

Cripps has finally discovered efficiency. He exhorts someone—it is not clear whom—to increase the productivity of labor, to institute better methods and install better machinery, and to avoid wasting raw materials bought by precious dollars.

He carefully avoids the word "wages" in his suggestions to labor. He says that "income" must be kept down. And also skirting the horrid word "strikes," he warns against "delays and stoppages in our industry."

* * *

Efficiency Lacking.

IT IS efficiency that is the root of the trouble. In productivity per worker, the American produces nearly twice as much steel, two and two-thirds as much coal and nearly three times as much machinery. The poorer showing of the British worker is partially due to obsolete machinery and lack of "know how" and partially due to the worker himself and his unions.

The Labor government, finally awakening to the fact that the strongest opposition in the United States of aid to the British relates to the cost of nationalization and socialization, has an answer to that. It asserts that 80 per cent of British industry is still under free private enterprise.

The fact is, however, that key industries are now socialized and that in essential production, 20 per cent may be decisive. In any event, the past four years have been a poor time for the British to take time out for theoretical experiments in socialism.

The cost of these experiments to the American taxpayer has been estimated at $2,000,000,000. This is not as costly as our own experiments, but we are at least earning the money to indulge ourselves.

Strong measures to restrict trade with dollar countries will hurt the British, but they will merely inconvenience us. The restrictions proposed by Cripps are relatively small and will be only palliatives.

Nor will tinkering with money cure the trouble. This is well understood by the British, and Cripps has at least postponed it. For it would raise the cost of living in England and enforce further austerity.

Any advantages in enabling the British to sell goods for less over here would run into our present decline in prices, and soon the British edge in our markets would vanish.

The real peril to England is political, a point which I shall explain in another column.

Frankly Speaking

About Excommunication

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON — A Roman Catholic believes if he follows his church's teaching and is truly sorry for his sins he will, after his death on earth, live forever in heaven.

He is also taught if he disobeys the church and dies without repentance, he not only loses all hope of heaven forever but will suffer damnation, or eternal torment.

That is why there is such terrible significance, in the mind of a Catholic, in the order of the Catholic church this week excommunicating any Catholic who helps communism in any way anywhere.

Excommunication cuts a Catholic off from the church entirely and if, while still excommunicated, he dies without true repentance, he will suffer eternal damnation. That's the Catholic belief.

This was the explanation of the order as given by a Catholic theologian:

The help a Catholic henceforth is forbidden to give communism, under pain of excommunication, covers a number of things:

Belonging to a Communist party anywhere in the world, helping communism in any way, such as voting for party members or contributing to party funds; or even reading communist literature or newspapers.

But the excommunication covers the future, not the past. A Catholic who has been a Communist party member for years—say in Poland or New York — is not now excommunicated for that past action.

But from this moment — or, rather, as soon as he learns of the church's order — he must quit the party or be excommunicated.

But a Catholic who now defies the orderr, as mentioned earlier, is automatically excommunicated and will be damned forever — if he dies without true repentance.

* * *

Must Be Truthful.

THAT PHRASE — "If he dies without true repentance" — will have the gravest importance for any Catholic defying the order because in the future he can avoid damnation and save himself in one of two ways.

1. By confessing to a priest that he is truly sorry.

2. Or, if he's dying and has no time to see a priest, by saying, if only to himself, that he is truly sorry.

(The church teaches that God knows a man's most secret thoughts and so knows whether a dying man is truly sorry for what he's done.

(So, if there's true repentance in a dying man's mind, God would let him enter heaven even though no one on earth ever knew the man was repentant before his death.)

But the church holds that to be truly sorry means just that: True repentance.

Suppose a man told a priest he was truly sorry but wasn't and only said he was because he wanted the priest to forgive him so he could enter heaven.

The theologian's explanation continues:

The priest, accepting the man's word as his true feeling, might forgive him. But God, reading is innermost thoughts, would know better.

That man, in spite of the priest's expressed forgiveness, would not be saved because the forgiveness had been obtained by deception.

So suppose a Catholic cynically defies the order now, thinking that at the end of his life, by merely expressing repentance, he can be saved.

That won't save him. Nothing will, except true repentance.

Dave Boone Says:

THE ATTITUDE of President Truman and his cabinet that everything will be all right if businessmen will kindly refrain from getting scared brings to mind that old melodramatic scene where the villain, who has knocked the heroine all over the place, twists his mustache and asks tenderly, "Why do you distrust me, my proud beauty?"

* * *

If American business hasn't been through enough to make it jumpy, its hide is tougher than suspected.

* * *

Harry admits that what goes up must come down—wages, government debt, and smoke rings always excepted. He wants prices to drop, but no wages or government extravagances. And major strikes are threatened in key industries where, despite the slump, higher wages are demanded.

Summary of Week's Happenings

Truman Places Burden Upon 'Business'

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

PRESIDENT TRUMAN agreed this week with what economic experts have been saying for months. Business conditions, he conceded in his midyear economic report to the Congress, are riding downward.

Prices, he reported, have dropped, mostly in "moderate and orderly" fashion, about nine per cent below the August, 1948, peak at wholesale. Wages have risen in some industries but they have been offset by fewer hours of work so that real earnings have stayed about even. Corporation profits before taxes in the last six months were 13 per cent under those of the last half of 1948, and farmers are netting eight per cent less than they were a year ago.

"Employment (averaging 58,000,000) is still high, but unemployment has been increasing and veterans and others leaving school are finding it much harder to obtain work than a year ago," the President said. "Production is still high, but it is lower, particularly in some industries, than it was last year. Business investment is at a high rate, but plans for new investments are being made with caution."

But there is no reason for panic. "Umemployment has not risen to the dangerous levels which would call for all-out emergency measures. . . . The economic situation does not call for an immediate and sweeping expansion of public works."

Urges Boosting of Output.

What it does call for, the President said, are new laws to bolster jobs and production, consumer income and buying power—laws to bring the annual output to "well above $300,000,000,000" in a few years, or one-fifth higher than today's national production.

The business outlook caused Mr. Truman to reverse his field on taxation. He cancelled his call, made earlier this year, for a four billion tax increase and he bowed to the idea of a temporary deficit spending policy.

"We cannot expect to achieve a budget surplus in a declining national economy," he said.

Economists inferred from the report that the President was trying to "keep business calm." In New York's financial district business leaders reacted favorably to the dropping of plans for a tax increase—but some grumbled that he still talked too much of the "welfare state."

On another economic front, the CIO Auto and Steel Workers spoke of strikes to enforce their new round of wage demands.

At Home

Week of Air Wrecks.

Air travel suffered a week of mishaps.

Fourteen Americans, including 13 of the country's better known newspaper, magazine and radio reporters, were killed with 30 others when a Dutch airliner crashed in a drenching rainstrom near Bombay, India.

Twenty-five minutes after the pilot radioed that a violent fight had broken out among the passengers, an unscheduled commercial airliner with 46 persons aboard crashed and burned near the summit of Santa Susana Pass near Los Angeles.

A French military plane plunged into the sea off French Morocco and 18 persons were killed.

A U. S. C-54 airlift transport crashed with three crewmen in the Russian zone near Berlin.

* * *

Television To Expand.

"Four times as much television within two years." That prospect was opened by the Federal Communications Commission this week through its proposal that 42 new television sending channels, in addition to a dozen already being used, be alloted to television broadcasters.

The new channels are in the "ultra high" spectrum, used until now mostly only for experimentation. Existing channels use "very high" frequencies.

The FCC said the new outlets could bring television service, "as far as possible," to all people of the United States.

* * *

Hiss Case Back In Congress.

The case of Alger Hiss began in Congress last year when the House un-American activities committee uncovered charges linking Hiss with Whittaker Chambers, admitted former communist spy courier. For six weeks the spotlight shifted to the courtroom where Hiss, former high state department official, was tried on charges of lying when he denied passing government secrets to Chambers and a Soviet spy ring. When the jury failed to agree on a verdict last week, the case landed back in Congress.

After much debate on the floor of the House, the unAmerican Activities Committee decided against reopening the Hiss-Chambers case at this time. But it left the way open to dig into it after Hiss is tried again.

* * *

Farmers' Prospects.

The Agriculture Department says American farmers now can expect another season of "tremendous" farm production with livestock feed grains approaching an all-time peak.

Only last year's crop volume will exceed this year's, the department officially estimates, and 1949 production might have set a new record were it not for bad weather and plant diseases which caused a sharp drop in wheat prospects last month.

As the agriculture experts see it, it looks like a wheat crop of about 1,200,000,000 bushels — the third largest in history and about 20 per cent above average, more than enough to fill prospective domestic and export requirements.

Abroad

Britain Cracks Down.

Britain's Labor government faced a crisis—a fight with labor. To crack down on a strike of some 12,000 London dock workers which tied up 127 ships loaded with vital food and raw materials for Britain, it asked King George VI to proclaim a state of national emergency—the first such declaration to quell a labor dispute since the general strike in 1926.

The strike issue was especially important [illegible] of Britain's slumpin[illegible] omic position, which c[illegible] ttered only by an increa[illegible] reign trade. Prime Min[illegible] Attlee bluntly called the wildcat walkout a demonstration of Communist "wrecking tactics."

Victory For Lobbyists

By MARQUIS CHILDS

WHILE [illegible] ent Truman won the electio[illegible] h his Fair Deal program la[illegible] vember, the private-power lobby has just won one of the m[illegible] notable victories in its long [illegible] aggressive history. That victory will have the effect, unless [illegible] is reversed by subsequent action, of nullifying most of the President's campaign promises on public power.

The power l[illegible] got in its licks through a subcommittee of the Senate appropriations committee passing on the bill for funds for the department of interior. That bi[illegible] from the House [illegible] propriations for [illegible] be built and o[illegible] government in [illegible] carry low-cost power [illegible] government-built dams [illegible] towns and cities where the power would be used.

Advocates of public power say that this is the heart of the program. If private utilities can buy low-cost government power, transmit it on their private lines and charge what they want to for it — the only restraint being the feeble regulation of state utility commissions — then the private utilities become the chief beneficiaries of the government-power program.

This was the point of view of Democrats in the House who fought, and successfully, to keep the power lines in the interior bill. They were led by Rep. Michael J. Kirwan of Ohio who showed great resourcefulness and tenacity in beating back the determined assault of the private-power lobby.

Kirwan and the Fair Deal Democrats were dismayed when they saw what the Senate committee had done. Key projects in various parts of the country were stricken out in instance after instance.

* * *

Not For Economy.

WHAT made them especially indignant was [illegible] realization that among [illegible] ists and special [illegible] highly placed Demo[illegible] claimed to [illegible] President. O[illegible] special [illegible] leader who is [illegible] have approached several congressmen was Richard [illegible] cy of Jefferson City, Mo.

Nacy was an assistant in Democratic headquarters during the last campaign and perior to that he was executive vice chairman of the national committee.

The Senate committee cut back drastically appropriations and authorizations to market power produced by the Southwestern Power Authority. Instead of $4,000,000 requested, the committee allowed $1,616,115, and the contract authority was cut from $5,800,000 asked to $2,257,905.

The committee also denied the establishing of a $300,000 revolving fund to be replenished from power receipts for expenses to insure continuity of electric service. Out of 115 items allowed by the House, most of them covering separate projects. The Senate committee allowed only 17, and those only in part.

The southwestern power program always has had the ardent sponsorship of Speaker Sam Rayburn.

If the sweeping cuts made by the Senate committee are allowed to stand, it will wreck the southwest project, in the view of those most familiar with it.

The little group of Senate insiders who engineered these changes can hardly claim that they made the cuts in the interest of economy. The total voted by the House for the interior department was $536,461,908 while the Senate committee recommended $590,685,911.

That difference of more than $54,000,000 includes a lot of pork for individual senators.

The likelihood is that the Senate will approve the action of its committee and then the only chance of restoring the power project will be in conference between the two houses.

Timely Editorial

Tax Hurts Business.

Of all the war excises, the least defensible in peacetime is the 15 per cent tax on transportation fares. Senator McCarran of Nevada proposes it be repealed.

The tax was clamped on in war time to discourage unnecessary travel. The trains were needed to haul troops. Last year the railroads said their passenger train services ran $560,000,000 into the red—a record deficit. Today, wher efforts are being made on every hand to increase travel, the tax stands as an unwarranted burden.

There is an added absurdity to the situation. Canada abolished its 15 per cent travel tax last March. Since then thousands of travelers have flocked across the border, or have phoned friends and ticket agencies, to buy rail, plane and buss tickets. In Detroit, city ticket offices have just about closed up, it is reported. By paying a 10-cent bus fair to Windson, Ont., a prospective traveler from Detroit can save $11.55 on a round-trip flight to Los Angelies. Or save $79.97 on a round trip to Hawaii.—Cleveland Press.

Glad He Didn't Bring Letters From Union Victims To Probe

WASHINGTON — I know I told you that last week, in response to a subpoena from a congressman from Indiana named Jacobs who has been fattening up on the practice of union law, I testified before a labor subcommittee of the House, but I want to fill you in some more.

This Jacobs, as I said, knocked off a fee of $80,000 from just one local of the Carpenters' Union over in Baltimore in a jam with the parent, or international, union and he sent me a pink writ demanding all my documents and so forth bearing on "lack of democracy" in unions.

Well, that was a lot to ask of a fellow as busy as I am, but I scratched up a satchel of stuff and came on down. A couple of friends in Washington had telephoned me to get a barber shop shave and a good night's sleep because this might be a trap and I had better be in shape, but I figured that nobody would be mean to me because my heart is pure and in I waltzed at the ghastly hour of half-past nine a. m., when decent, God-fearing people ought to be in bed where they belong.

As far as I am concerned there can't be too much lack of democracy in unions or anywhere else because in my scale democracy reeks on rye bread and the republican process is what our unions and the entire glorious old United States of A. suffer most from the lack of.

We tangled slightly on that, but I got in the zing about the republican process just the same because I figured that this show was strictly a barney by this Jacobs to make a little music for himself and the Democratic party, and I wasn't wrong.

★

As I look back now, I certainly am glad I didn't bring the letters from the poor stiffs who have been bounced around by the union gorillas.

One guy showed up on the bench, a fellow from Harry Truman's home town named Irving and a member of Congress who runs a Grave-Diggers' Union as a local of Joe Moreschi's hod-carriers' and common laborers' racket which has headquarters right here in Washington.

The place was absolutely crawling with unioneers. There was another named Tom Burke, from Toledo, a former business agent for a local of the U.A.W. and probably not a bad Joe from the cut of his jib, but a union bigot or he couldn't be where he is.

There was a mugg from Minneapolis who came out of the dirty Browne - Bioff racket into the teamsters and so to the halls of our sacred heritage in Washington. And the "research specialist," which is a fancy name they use for a hired committee hand who reads clippings and listens to gossip and boils it down in reports which then are carefully filed behind the clock, is one Joseph S. Jarosz, until recently an organizer for the United Auto Workers. Jarosz is a Reuther man.

So, altogether, you might surmise that anyone who had squawked about a boffing from a union racket would stand a good chance of getting very very austere treatment had I brought my folders down.

Moreover, it would be unfair to put Mr. Jacobs to the great temptation that would arise were I to let him feast his altruistic soul on these files. These letters depict many a case similar to that of the carpenters in Baltimore which paid him the $80,000.

I know some people are above temptation. Mr. Jacobs throws a rugged profile to the news photographers. But would it be right of me to torture a high-minded specialist in union law who has temporarily sworn off practice to serve his countrymen? Even assuming that he wouldn't make a few notes for his future book concerning an exploited local with an obvious claim for a half - million dol-tional, is it decent to make an honest man's mouth water or his conscience wrestle these hot nights?

No! A thousand, more or less, times, no!

Travelers To Europe Glad To Be Back Home Where Food Abounds

NEW YORKERS are talking about: The many people just back from doing Europe. Glad to get some "decent food!" The cuisine at the Automat, they insist, is superior to what they over charge you for at the swank Ritz or George V in Paree. The only fresh orange juice over there is at the bar of the Monte Carlo gaming casino.

The lovely song called "Twilight," which is sure to land high on the most-played lists. . . . The way the giveaway programs tripled and clicked despite all that criticism. . . . The "Lust for Gold" film, which is rated exciting stuff. . . . "The Fountainhead," which was a best-seller, being reduced to mediocrity via Hollywood. It is full of improbabilities like this: A man who does a column on architecture "is the most powerful" man on the paper!

The New York gendarmes who hand a summons to women wearing halters on the streets. The charge is indecent exposure. The fine: $4.

The Roxy pickets who are opposed to "House of Strangers," which is clicking, anyhow. They complain the Italian characters portrayed in it are untrue. Many of the pickets picketed "Iron Curtain," which the Reds here blackballed.

The Blue Angel's new comedian, Roger Price. He authored Bob Hope's stuff for 5 years and does gag-scripting for Martin and Lewis, whose lunacy on stage convulsed spectators on both coasts. . .Signs of the times on chic West 57th St., where dresses are offered from 75 cents up. . . Ricardo Montalban, one of the better players in the pictures, who doesn't get the publicity his skill rates. . .The imbecilic title to the ditty: "Guess I 'll Hang My Tears Out to Dry".

Variety's memo that MGM's picture, "Battleground," is advertised (a previews) as being "dedicated to the Battling Bastards of Bastogne." If they are smart, they will chuck that phrase pronto. Grates on the eyes.

Gene Autry's platter, "That Silver-Haired Daddy of Mine," the familiar corn, but it has hit the 5 million sales mark. . .The way "Oklahoma" is still making money. It has clicked big in six foreign nations. . .The Trib's drama section, which noted that it is unusual for a big musical show to open in July. It is. But Berlin opened his smash, "This Is the Army," in July.

"Miss Liberty," major event at the Imperial Theatre. It cost $175,000 to unveil. The advance sale is around $400,000. Irving Berlin's last musicalulu was "Annie Get Your Gun," which cost $325,000 to stage.

Cab Calloway's big win on the Robinson-Gavilan fight. Enough, they say, to pay his alimony for 5 years . . .The terrible news about the plane crashes.

Hemingway's delightful wordage in Holiday on fishing in Cuban waters. . .The way Joan Davis romped back into radio parlors after her 2-year exile. A funny gal. Even with all the lulls. . .The Summer tariff to witness a real Broadway bargain — "Born Yesterday." Only $1.80 at matinees.

Vogue's observation that Mr Pinza (in his 50s) isn't the only fmeme inciter. Others over 45 are Crosby, Tracy, Astaire, Bogart and Gable.

Legislature Quits After 28 Weeks

Passes College Loan Measure

By REED SMITH

COLUMBUS — (AP) — Ohio's first billion-dollar legislature ended 28 weeks of work early today.

Representatives quit at 12:30 a. m., bringing to a close one of the longest working sessions on record. Senators shut up shop 20 minutes earlier. Both houses covered clocks at midnight.

Lawmakers then took a "ten-minute recess" and went home. The "recess" will last until Tuesday for officers to sign bills passed in the final rush. Then they'll adjourn until July 29, date for officially ending the 98th General assembly.

The legislature approved revision of job classifications and salaries of state employes next Jan. I. Pay raises may reach $3,000,000 or more. The measure also grants 5 per cent annual increases starting July 1, 1951. The bill affects some 27,000 workers.

Sen. Carl D. Sheppard (D-Mahoning) lost a last-day attempt to require "loyalty oaths" of state officials, employes and teachers. The Senate defeated his motion to force its rules committee to bring the measure to the senate floor for a vote.

Senate majority leader Margaret A. Mahoney said there was no need for such a measure and majority Democrats backed her up.

The Senate completed passage of a bill permitting state universities to borrow $6,000,000 for student centers. The state would loan $1,000,000 each to Bowling Green, Kent State, Miami and Ohio universities; $1,500,000 to Ohio state, and $500,000 to Wilberforce.

Senators also completed passage of a bill to create a commission to study fishing and conservation practices in Lake Erie's Sandusky bay. Another measure permits county commissioners to pay medical, dentist, optometrical and hospital bills of aid to the blind recipients. The state would repay commissioners to a maxiumum of $200.

Other last-day approved measures would:

Name Route 136 in Highland and Adams counties the "Gov. Thomas Kirker highway."

Appropriate $2,000,000 for first half-year deficit in state matching of local poor relief expenditures.

Authorize the state to accept from Lancaster the William Tecumseh Sherman birthplace.

Area Firm Sells Branch

ASHLAND — Sale of the branch plant, at London, Ont., of the Dr. Hess and Clark, Inc., local stock food manufacturers, to Canadian interests was announced today by H. M. Clark, president. The Canadian plant, acquired 17 years ago, is no longer needed since the Ashland plant has increased facilities for supplying both the American and Canadian markets, Hess said.

The local plant employs approximately 400 persons while a staff of 35 was employed in Canada to package the products for distribution. Only the building and site was involved in the transaction. Sale price was not revealed.

At the Ashland plant, raw materials are unloaded from railroad cars by suction and flow automatically to mixers and grinders. The new packaging machinery opens containers, seals bottoms, fills to accurate weights, closes and seals tops, Clark states.

GI Bares Brutal Treatment By Reds

BERLIN—(UP)—An American G. I. said today Soviet guards beat, kicked, spat upon and otherwise tortured him while holding him as an alleged spy for the past five months.

Haggard, with bloodshot eyes, recruit Christus Rangraves, 21, New York, was released from the Soviet jail in Berlin last night and handed over to American military police.

He told newsmen that he had lived in the same clothes for 142 days and had not seen daylight for 140 days.

"It was horrible, like a gruesome nightmare," Rangraves said. "Sometimes I wished I was dead."

He was sent to a hospital for observation and treatment after talking with newsmen. Lt. Col. Thomas Lancer, provost - marshal, said the army would investigate Rangraves' "very strong story."

Rangraves, a constabulary trooper, disappeared into the Soviet sector of Berlin Feb. 24 while in civilian clothes. The Army had listed him as absent without leave.

But Rangraves said he had been arrested by Soviet sector German police and turned over to Soviet authorities, who accused him of espionage.

"At first I made believe I was deaf and dumb," he said, "but when they turned me over to the Russians I told them I was an American.

"AMERICAN PIG"

"They kicked me, beat me and called me, 'American pig!' "

Rangraves said the Soviets put him in solitary confinement in the Berlin jail. Periodically, he said, they questioned him about the number of American troops in Berlin and asked other military questions while guards armed with tommy-guns hit, spat upon and cursed him.

He said he was forced to spend three days in the "ice-box," a room in which insubordinate prisoners were stripped naked and a fan blew cold air upon them.

On other occasions, he said, he was forced to sit rigidly with arms folded. If he so much as moved a muscle, he said, a guard would strike him.

Rangraves charged that Soviet guards raped women prisoners in nearby cells.

Social Hall To Be Built

Blymyer Estate Makes Bequest

A gift of $73,114 from the estate of the late George W. Blymyer jr., to the First Congregational church, was announced today by the pastor, Rev. Matthew Madden.

The bequest will be used to erect a new social hall as the third unit of the building project under way at the corner of Marion avenue and Millsboro road.

The two units already under construction are the sanctuary and the religious education building. Total cost of the project is expected to be about $400,000. A chapel is the fourth unit.

When ground was broken for the two units last spring the congregation expected a long wait before starting on the social hall. With receipt of the gift, however, it is expected that work will begin on initial phases of the job next week, Rev. Madden said.

The Blymyers were at one time a well-known Mansfield family and were active in the First Congregational church.

The gift was made in memory of Mr. Blymyer's father and mother in recognition of their life-long interest in the church. The gross gift was $80,000, and $73,114 remained after taxes.

Rev. Madden said a proper memorial tablet will be placed on or in the new unit with a fitting inscription.

Work on the sanctuary and the religious education building is progressing rapidly. The concrete floor was poured in the religious education building this week.

Work on all three units is in charge of Frank Beymer, Mansfield contractor.

Rev. Madden said the congregation hopes to be in at least part of their new church home by September, 1950.

One Hurt, 4 Escape Injury In Two Area Auto Accidents

A resident of Bellville suffered minor injuries and four out-of-state residents escaped injury in two traffic accidents in the Mansfield area yesterday and early this morning.

Jack Snavely, 16, of Bellville, suffered deep lacerations of the forehead and a bump on his left knee, in an accident which occurred at 1 a. m. today on State Route 13, four and a half miles south of Mansfield. He was taken to General hospital and attendants said he would be released today.

Mr. and Mrs. Dominic De Battista and their two sons, John, 9, and William, 8, of Peace Dale, R. I., escaped injury when they jumped from their automobile after it stalled on the Big Four railway tracks at the Main street crossing in Crestline. The automobile was badly damaged when it was hit by a freight train traveling east. De Battista was traveling west at the time of the accident at 4:15 p. m. yesterday.

The railway crossing is guarded by flashers which were reported working at the time of the accident.

Snavely was injured when his car was hit head-on by one driven by Richard Henry, 25, of 628 Springmill street, according to highway patrolmen.

Patrolmen said Henry attempted to pass a truck at a crest of a hill and drove into the path of Snavely's car. Henry was not injured.

Henry pleaded guilty in municipal court this morning to a charge of improper passing. He was fined $10 and costs.

Social Security Benefits Near $400,000 Yearly In City

1,600 Get Payments From U. S.

Eligibles Urged To File For OAB

By JOHN FISHER

Benefit payments under provisions of the Social Security act are approaching an annual volume of $400,000 in Mansfield. Figures disclosed by Edward P. Blonston, manager of the local office of the Social Security administration, showed that last year 1600 Mansfield residents received monthly benefits checks totalling $336,000.

How the program has mushroomed is shown by turning the record back to 1940 when the first monthly social security payments amounted to only $48,000 in Mansfield.

The 1600 local beneficiaries of 1948 were made up of 650 retired workers, who received average monthly payments of $26 a month; 250 wives of retired workers who received 14 40 per month, 450 children of workers who died received $13 monthly; 110 young widows with children in their care received $21 a month; and 150 widows over 65 ments of $20 a month

These payments are made from the Old Age and Survivors Insurance Trust fund into which workers in covered classifications of employment pay one per cent on the first $3000 of their annual wages or salaries A matching one per cent is paid by the employer The money is collected by the collector of internal revenue who transfers it to the federal treasury The current funds are transferred to the trust fund as received

Nationally, last year's collections from employees and employers amounted to $1,600,000,000 and disbursements of $512,000,000 were made to two and one - half million beneficiaries The trust fund is administered by the secretary of the treasury, the secretary of labor and the federal security administrator.

The trust fund administrators are required to invest such money as is not needed for current benefit expenditures, in interest bearing government bonds

Blonston said he has found much public misunderstanding of the intent and purpose of the social security benefit payments The "benefit check", he explained, is not charity It is in no way connected with relief It is a return on what the worker and his employer have paid to insure the workers security

"It's a strange thing, but here we have found eligible beneficiaries who do not apply for their claims until they reach the down - and - out stage." Blonston said

"They come in and, in a rather apologetic fashion, say I would not ask for this, but I m in desperate need of money On the other hand, the retired business executive who has been drawing a big salary for years is down here to file his application the day after his 65th birthday He is a retired business man and he knows he has as much right to this benefit for which he has paid as he has to a regular insurance company dividend or annuity on which he has paid his premiums," Blonston added

The procedure is remarkably free of red tape If you are insured and retired at the age of 65, you can walk into the administration office and make out an application in as little as 15 minutes The first of the next month your benefit checks will start arriving

U. S. Senate Names Pact Action Date.

Farm Union OK's Brannan Plan

WASHINGTON — (UP) — The Senate agreed yesterday to wind up its Atlantic pact debate next week and vote on the historic defense treaty on Thursday

The debate has been going on for nearly two weeks. If the pact is ratified — and administration leaders are confident it will be — it will mark the first time in history that the United States has entered into an alliance with other major nations of the world.

The next big hurdle for administration foreign policy is the proposed $1,450,000,000 program for helping anti-communist nations of the world to arm themselves against aggression

President Truman plans to submit it to Congress as soon as the Atlantic treaty is ratified Some senators supporting the pact are against the arms corollary, and it is not certain that Congress will act on the program this year

Other congressional developments

New law — President Truman turned the public housing bill into a law with a pen flourish at a White House signing ceremony It is the first of his "Fair Deal" legislative measures to be enacted It provides for construction of 810 000 government-financed public housing units in six years

Brannan plan — President James G Patton of the National Farmers union gave his ' wholehearted" endorsement of Secretary of Agriculture Charles F Brannan's farm program He said opposition to the program stems from "corporations and well - to - do individuals" who would have to put up the taxes to pay for it Economic expansion — an economic expansion act" to increase employment through government aids to private industry was introduced by Sen. James E Murray, D , Mont.

Military pay — Chairman Millard E Tydings D, Md , said his Senate Armed Services committee will approve a House-passed bill to raise military pay $20 000 000 a year.

But he said the committee will not press for Senate action until other legislation is assured that would make a $1,000 000 000 saving in military spending.

Go To Cleveland

BUCYRUS — Approximately 450 Bucyrus baseball fans will go to Cleveland tomorrow aboard a special train to see the double-header between the Cleveland Indians and the Boston Red Sox.

Bob Feller Victim of A's Attack

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Win or lose in the series final against the Philadelphia Athletics today, the Cleveland Indians still will be in second place, but the seemingly unbeatable New York Yankees go along in first like "Old Man River."

In one of the poorer home exhibitions of the season last night, the Tribe bowed before "broken arm" Dick Fowler, 8-0. The loss sent them 6½ games below the Yankees, who again pushed over the St. Louis Browns.

Fowler, throwing like it hurt (it probably did) allowed the madly swinging Tribe only seven hits. He struck out three desperate hitters and walked three.

Loser in the one-sided fracas was Bob Feller, who was removed after allowing five hits and four runs in five and one third innings. It was his seventh loss and plunged him once more below the .500 mark. He has won six.

Fowler, a victim of bursitis, has parleyed the painful shoulder ailment into a pitching style good enough for nine victories, three of them in a row over Cleveland.

He takes a short windup and lobs the ball plateward. Onlookers might fear for the health of Philadelphia players should someone connect with one of the sucker tosses, but seldom are they hit hard.

ONE EXTRA BASER

In last night's game, the Indians made only one extra base hit, a double by Jim Hegan. Seldom did they hit the ball sharply. Six of the outs were popups. Four others were soft flies to the outfield.

One ball was hit hard enough by Hegan to bounce off Third Baseman Hank Majeski's knee and force the squat power hitter from the game.

An attempt by Larry Doby to make second on a single to center did not help the Tribe cause. With Philadelphia leading 6-0 in the sixth, the fleet Doby singled with one out but was thrown out by Sam Chapman when he tried to stretch the blow. Gordon then walked and Manager Lou Boudreau singled before the rally fizzled with Bob Kennedy's pop out.

A walk to dangerous Eddie Joost and Elmer Valo's double in the third accounted for the only run the A's needed. Feller's wildness and an error by Ray Boons in the fourth enabled the A's to pick up two more.

Majeski walked and so did Wally Moses. Fox sacrificed and Mike Guerra was purposely passed, filling the bases.

Gordon tossed Fowler's double play grounder to Boone, who dropped it, and all hands were safe with Majeski scoring. Joost fanned, but Valo walked forcing in Moses with the second marker.

Three hits and another error gave the A's three more in the sixth. Feller retired with one out after allowing all of the hits and one of the runs. Sam Zoldak relieved.

A 5-hit barrage against Frank Papish, another reliever, gave the Athletics their last two runs in the eighth.

Penn Rally Falls Short As Shelby Wins, 10 To 9

Penn Auto-Sporting Goods dropped its seventh game in 16 starts last night at Blue Goose park by a 10-9 margin to the Shelby Blues. Shelby has won 16 of 17 games.

The Blues built up a nine run lead over ex-professional Don Hardy before Jack Hammett took over on the mound in the fifth inning. Hammett stopped them with one run the rest of the way and hit a home run himself to contribute to the Autos comeback.

Jim Guest also banged one out of the park as Penn scored five runs in the sixth inning and three in the ninth.

Sunday's game with the Cleveland Black Sox has been cancelled, and the Autos will travel to Shelby for a return engagement with the Blues. The game is to be played at 3 p. m. on the Shelby high school diamond.

Nikolaus Hits Three Homers In DAV Win

Disabled American Veterans moved into third place in the American league softball standings last night by blasting Todd's Jewelry, 16 to 3, at Johns park. It was the playoff of a postponed game.

Husky Bob Nikolaus, DAV center fielder, almost personally accounted for his team's victory. Nikolaus blasted three home runs to lead the 16-hit DAV attack off Dale McKinley. Maloney also homered for the winners while Daugherty hit one for Todd's.

Wayne Hough gave Todd's only five hits while fanning four. DAV has won three and lost two in the first round standings.

Kirk Winner Of Ohio Title Third Time

TOLEDO — (AP) — Pleasant Peggy Kirk was still the best woman golfer in Ohio today but she had to contend with a putting genius to win her third straight championship.

She defeated Cleveland champion Claire Doran, 2 and 1, in yesterday's finals of the Ohio Women's Golf tournament.

In the 35 holes of competition over the wooded Sylvania country club course, Miss Doran had 10 one-putt greens, including a 12 footer, a 15-footer and a 20-footer.

But the long one pretty Claire missed on the 35th hole meant the match for Findlay's Miss Kirk.

Peggy had fired par fours on the 33rd and 34th to take a two-up lead.

Then on that final hole, Miss Kirk lashed her second shot into some trees but was able to get out and on the green in three. Miss Doran was on in three, too, and had a 12-foot putt to make for a birdie.

The ball twirled around the rim, then bobbed to the side of the hole. They both had fives and the tournament was over.

Gorman-Rupp Beats Wooster Lumber, 3-2

Gorman-Rupp got its Ohio Major league softball record back up to the .500 mark here last night as it scored its fourth victory, 3-2, over Wooster Lumber.

Lanky Stretch Regula was once again the hero as he pitched a four-hitter, struck out 12 men and hit a home run himself. Stretch spotted Wooster its two runs in the third and fourth inning and then hit his homer in the sixth to start Gorman-Rupp rolling. Wayne Hough got a double and single to help in the attack.

Gorman-Rupp is to be host to Lakewood at 8:30 p. m. tonight, in another league game at the G-R field.

It was the second straight victory for AVC and gave it a half-game margin over idle American Legion. Westinghouse Engineers had been tied for first place but forfeited to Amvets and automatically dropped out of the league.

Young Clevelander Ousts Thoma, Hager

By CHARLEY STINE

A new Ohio-amateur golf champion was to be crowned today as the 43rd annual simon-pure tournament comes to a close at Westbrook Country club.

Set to battle 36 holes for the title are tall, slim 18-year-old Dick Evans of Cleveland and Vince Leskosky, 25-year old putting magician from Youngstown.

Leskosky, a telephone lineman whose two day vacation has now run three times that long, is out to break a jinx which has never allowed a Public Links golfer to win the coveted Amateur crown.

The happy, almost awed Air Corps veteran didn't think he'd qualify among the top 64 so he took only time off to play the first two days. He didn't think he'd win two matches yesterday either, so he checked out of his hotel in the morning.

But the champion of Mill Creek golf club, Youngstown, was back in his room last night after playing 35 holes around Westbrook in 135 strokes, five under par. He was three under in beating Urbana's Pete Dye in 19 holes in the morning and then eliminated Ed Meister of Cleveland, 3 and 2 in the afternoon, with a two-under card.

Mansfield lost its hopes for a home-town titleholder when Pete Thoma bowed out in the morning and Al Hager lost in the afternoon. Both were victims of Evans who has eliminated some of the best men of the tournament. In succession he took out John Busemeyer of Wyoming, Lt. Jack Mann, former pro, defending champion Harold Paddock, Thoma and Hager.

Thoma lost 1 up in 20 holes yesterday morning while Hager dropped out when he failed to sink a 12-foot birdie putt with Evans leading by two holes on the 17th.

Evans had some trouble with his putting but hit some good drives and was on the green invariably with his long irons. Leskosky was good but not brilliant with the longer clubs, but when it came to chipping and putting he was genuine pro.

In the afternoon match, Leskosky drove on the far corner of the green on the par three sixth hole. Meister banged within about ten feet of the pin, but lost when Leskowsky holed out from 40 feet.

HAGER HAS TROUBLE

Hager was having trouble all day as his usually reliable irons went sour. He took a 77 in beating Lew Martin of St. Clairsville, 1 up, in the morning and was five over par when the semi-final match ended.

It was the second straight year for the 25-year old ex-Marine to lose out in the semi-finals. He and Meister each received a sterling silver platter engraved "Ohio Amateur semi-finalist, 1949."

That trophy made Hager the top silver winner, despite his losing. He was co-medalist of the qualifying round and received duplicate prizes with Danny Carmichael of Columbus. Both got a silver cocktail shaker.

Both Mansfield men who lost yesterday blew early leads. Thoma was three up and five to go before losing while Hager had held a two-hole advantage at the end of five. A birdie on the third hole and a bogey by Evans on the fourth had given the Westbrook champ that lead.

His downfall started on the par three sixth when both he and Evans were short of the green with their drives. Evans chipped on and one-putted while Al got down in four. He got the hole back with a bird on the seventh lost it again with a bogey on the eighth. Evans made the turn even when the action of the sixth hole was repeated on the par three ninth.

Al failed to hit the green in regulation figures on the 10th and 12th holes and went two down. The next five holes were halved to end the match.

Leskosky used only 24 putts in the 16 holes in the afternoon round. He one - putted eight greens.

Pollet Gives Fans Pennant Policy On Cards

By JACK HAND
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Howie Pollet, who peddles insurance for Skipper Eddie Dyer in the winter, is selling many National league fans a pennant policy on the St. Louis Cards.

The slim lefthanded pitcher is helping boss Dyer meet his premiums as Card manager with a fine 12-5 record that makes him top winner in the league.

Dyer has been critizied freely for stringing along with his veteran players. Pollet, because he showed nothing in 1947 and only fair stuff last season, was an open target. Eddie never gave up on Howard.

Pollet didn't let Dyer down either. Starting May 14 he edged Pittsburgh and then lost a heart breaker, 2-0 to Brooklyn.

Since that loss to the Dodgers he has been a whiz, winning 11 of 13 including shutouts over Boston, Chicago and Philadelphia.

Knowing that Brooklyn already had protected its lead by whacking Cincinnati in an afternoon game, 11-5, Pollet took the hill last night in Philadelphia. A win was a must for the Birds.

Pollet and Robin Roberts hooked up in a 0-0 duel. It went down to the seventh with no score until Pollet's single drove home Eddie Kazak who had walked. Joe Garagiola's single had moved Kazak around into scoring position. That was all the scoring of another 1-0 game.

Brooklyn's lead remained at 1½ games because the Dodgers helped Don Newcombe hobble home to his seventh win with homers by Tommy Brown, Roy Campanella and Jackie Robinson.

Warren Spahn of Boston, victim of four unearned runs in the first inning of Tuesday's all-star game, had errorless support from the Braves in his 6-1 win over Chicago. Spahn hit a two run homer in the second off Warren Hacker.

The Pittsburgh - New York game was rained out and rescheduled to make a doubleheader today.

Another shutout pitching job stretched the New York Yankees' American league lead to 6½ games. Eddie Lopat blanked the St. Louis Browns, 6-0, while runnerup Cleveland lost to Philadelphia 8-0.

Yogi Berra, who never hit a home run in his home town of St. Louis, finally made the grade with two blasts while Lopat turned in a five-hitter.

The A's knocked Cleveland's Bobby Feller out of the box, running his five-game win streak with an 8-0 pasting.

Boston's fancy eight-game win splurge was halted by Detroit on a four-run rally in the ninth inning, 8-7.

Washington came up with a big eighth inning, scoring six runs to dump Chicago, 9-4.

City Churches Curtail Services During Summer Months

Many End Evening Worship

Presbyterians Drop School

With summer vacations in full swing and many Mansfielders out of town, city churches are eliminating some parts of their regular programs to give pastors and other church workers a vacation too.

August will be vacation month at the First Presbyterian church with no church or church school services scheduled for that month. This month traditionally is vacation month at the church, but earlier church officers thought they might hold church school classes this year. However, church school leaders have decided to completely close the school during August as in past years. The decision was made after it was found many teachers and pupils had planned to be away from the city next month.

Church officers feel by early consideration of the summer schedule next year, a plan can be worked out to provide vacation time for all teachers while continuing class sessions throughout the summer.

Earlier in the summer the Park Avenue Baptist church scheduled its church and church school picnic for next week. However, at a meeting of departmental superintendents and presidents of organized classes last week it was decided to cancel the annual Sunday school picnic this year.

Many Mansfield churches have cancelled their evening services for the summer since interdenomination outdoor vesper services are being held at South park each Sunday evening.

MEET PASTORS

Members of Mansfield congregations will be getting acquainted with pastors of other churches this summer as ministers substitute for each other during vacations.

Among the churches which will have visiting pastors tomorrow are the First Evangelical United Brethren, the St. Paul Lutheran, and the First Methodist.

In addition to taking their regular summer vacations, many Mansfield pastors are out of the city during the summer months attending church conferences or taking additional training at theological schools and camps.

Many Mansfielders are making new church friends this summer as they represent their church at conferences and training sessions away from the city. Such meetings give them an opportunity to exchange ideas with members of their church from other regions, and many of these new ideas will be incorporated in Mansfield church programs this fall.

Songs Sung in the Temple

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Psalms 24; 84; 95:1-7.

The earth is the Lord's, and the fulness thereof, the world, and they that dwell therein For He hath founded it upon the seas.

Who shall ascend into the hill of the Lord: or who shall dwell in His holy place? He that hath clean hands and a pure heart.

The swallow hath found a nest for herself, where she may lay her young, even Thine altars, O Lord God of hosts, my King

O come, let us worship and bow down: let us kneel before the Lord our Maker For He is our God

MEMORY VERSE—Psalm 95.6.

Only Appendicitis Stopped Him

Organist At Church 31 Years

By EILEEN DEWHURST

The hundreds of selections in the hymn book at the St. Paul Lutheran church have become almost as familiar to O. L. Seybold, church organist, as his own name. They should be familiar, for Seybold is starting his 31st year as organist at the church on West Third street.

"When I first started to play here, they had a German service every other Sunday after the English service," Seybold said. "There were both English and German services every other Sunday in the Sunday school too." Seybold said the German services were dropped from the church program about 1930.

Seybold who started playing the organ at the St. Paul church in 1919 has served under five different pastors including the present one, Rev. John Gensel. Prior to going to the Lutheran church he was organist at the First Christian church for five years.

"I played at this church for the first time June 29, 1919, and I haven't missed many Sundays since then," Seybold said. He added that although pastors and members of the congregation have changed in the past 30 years, he still is playing the same hymns.

Seybold recalled he missed seven Sundays in a row in the early 1920's, but that was when he had appendicitis. Since then he has missed only an occasional Sunday when he has been away from the city.

When Seybold first came to the church he played the old pipe organ. Now he plays a new Baldwin electronic organ which was installed last October.

His love of music is evident to anyone who watches the reverence with which he touches the organ keys. In addition to his duties at the church, Seybold has been a piano tuner for the past 32 years. He travels over an area within a radius of 50 miles of Mansfield tuning pianos.

Seybold also taught piano for 20 years, but he gave up that work 16 years ago. He has been a member of the American Federation of Musicians since 1905.

Seybold is not the only musician in his family. His daughter, Mrs. Harvey Lisle plays the organ for the youth choir when they sing at the church.

Last Sunday members of the St. Paul Lutheran church honored Seybold for his long term of service. During Sunday school he was presented a cake in appreciation of his work, and he was given recognition during the morning service.

RECORD TO BE PROUD OF—O. L. Seybold, 524 South Main street, assumes a familiar pose as he sits at the Baldwin electronic organ in the St. Paul Lutheran church. Seybold is starting his 31st year as organist at the church. Previous to that, he was organist at the First Christian church for five years.
